ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Planning Department Wins Two Awards Environmental Associations

We are proud to announce that our department has won two awards for its "34th America's Cup Environmental Impact Report/Environmental Assessment and Permitting" report at the 2013 National Association of Environmental Professionals (NAEP) | Association of Environmental Professionals (AEP) Conference in Los Angeles.

In partnership with San Francisco's Environmental Science Associates and Orion Environmental Associates, the Planning Department's "34th America's Cup Environmental Impact Report/Environmental Assessment and Permitting" report received the President's Award in the "Environmental Analysis" category for the NAEP Environmental Excellence Award program. In addition, the report also won the Outstanding Award in the AEP Award program.

The NAEP Environmental Excellence Award program recognizes the outstanding accomplishments of environmental professionals from around the country. The NAEP Committee selected projects that displayed new ideas and fresh ways to conduct analysis, partnered in community engagement, and provided more accessible pathways to educate, enrich, and move the environmental profession forward.

The AEP Award program provides statewide recognition of the best work of environmental professionals which contributes to the "enhancement, maintenance and protection of the quality of the natural and human environment." Award winners were selected for their work in environmental analysis and presentation in an attractive, understandable, and easily accessible format.

Award winners were announced on April 2, 2013.
